

Mining and Movies

Mining and Movies is one of many videos exploring different ways to teach people the truth of mining. In this particular video, the theme is based around the idea of bringing modern-day media to the mining industry. The video goes into detail about how the media, mostly film, industry could help advertise the mining industry and help spread the word of truth on mining. The video also states that the media industry would only act as a path to greater education on mining, and could lead them to reliable sources.
